ONE IDEA, ONE OPPORTUNITY, ONE FUTURE:

STORIES BORN WITH ITG

Young people transforming their reality through entrepreneurship and innovation.

Behind every figure, report, and tool developed in the ITG – InTechGrowth project, there is something far more important: real stories of young people striving to build their own path.

Stories like Ana's, a young woman from Moldova who always had an idea in mind but didn't know where to start. Or Giorgi's in Georgia, who viewed entrepreneurship as something distant, reserved only for a select few.

Different stories, different contexts, but the same reality: talent, motivation... and a lack of opportunities.

Through the activities of the ITG project, these young people found more than just training. They found guidance, confidence, and, above all, a space where their ideas could take shape.

Thanks to the digital incubator and the educational materials developed by the project, they began taking their first steps: defining their ideas, structuring their projects, and visualizing a future that previously felt out of reach.

Yet the most significant change isn't just professional—it's personal.

Because when a young person starts believing in their own potential, everything changes.

The ITG – InTechGrowth project doesn't just promote entrepreneurship. It drives stories of perseverance, growth, and new opportunities.

Stories that are starting today... but hold all the potential to transform tomorrow.
